

Poker Evolver Going Full Tilt

The online poker industry is as fast changing and dynamic as they come, although there can be no doubt that certain, high profile on-line casinos, are dominating the field when it comes to on-line poker table play.

The development team behind Poker Evolver are constantly improving their poker tracking software, to make sure it retains its reputation as one of the best poker tools available; indeed, you could say that Poker Evolver itself is constantly evolving.

One of the main considerations during recent development discussions, was to take a sweeping look at the current market leaders in the on-line poker site sector, and to identify those with are leading the field. The reasoning behind this was to ensure that the software itself would be compatible with the majority of major poker rooms.

As a result of this study, a new version of Poker Evolver will be released in the immediate future. This updated release will introduce Full Tilt Poker as a supported poker site, whilst maintaining functionality with the current spread of poker rooms already supported.

Although the addition of Full Tilt Poker is a major part of this release, there have been many improvements to other areas of the software package as well. By taking the feedback of the Poker Evolver customer base into consideration, the developers have been able to improve certain areas, and achieve a much more polished and complete package. A major effort was also made with regards to bug fixes. In many ways this is a milestone release of Poker Evolver, seeing it mature into a solid, useful and functional poker tool.

Poker Evolver still contains a vast array of useful poker tools, making it one of the most versatile poker tracking software packages available. The bankroll management tool still allows the user to maintain accounts of transactions, including custom accounts with the like of Neteller, as well as keeping you abreast of your risk of ruin and hourly income. This simple feature alone is designed to take the headache out of maintaining on-line poker site balances, leaving the player free to be a player and not an accountant. Past data can also be interrogated to discern a users average session earning and total winnings. By utilising the bankroll management tool correctly, the user is able to avoid making one of, if not the most common mistakes made by an on-line poker player, namely the mistake of overstretching their bank balance and being forced out of play. Using the bankroll manager correctly, will help to ensure that they stay in for the long game, and make the most profitable use of their betting funds, whilst keeping it as safe as possible.

A piece of poker tracking software is only as good as it's analysis engine and user interface, Poker Evolver has been designed to perform accurate poker hand analysis and provide the results in an extremely easy to understand format. As a poker tool, the software allows its user to find not only their own mistakes, but those of their opponents, thus giving them a healthy edge and allowing them to adjust their playing style in real time. All of this information is now displayed on a simple graph, allowing the player to filter their data, and find the statistics they are looking for, both quickly and easily. The hand browser function allows the user to drill down to hand level for analysis, to find the actual causes that affected the results at root level. This is a very powerful tool to put into the hands of a poker player, it allows them the luxury of maintaining a critical eye upon their own play, whilst keeping track of the way their opponents are playing the game. This has traditionally, been one of the more difficult aspects of on-line play, as reading a digital opponent is extremely difficult, due mainly to the fact that on-line play is usually significantly faster pace than a real life game, and very little inter-player interaction takes place. Using Poker Evolver to manage this facet of the game for you is likely to bring great benefits.

The table play HUD has been improved, allowing the player to view statistics, gathered in real time, about the players they are facing across the poker table. Poker Evolver will keep you informed of the playing style displayed by the table participants, whether they are playing tight, aggressive or loose. This is invaluable information and can save significant losses if acted upon in the correct manner. The HUD is invisible to the poker room client, and sits below the gaming window to keep you abreast of any changes hand by hand. By dynamically monitoring the playing style of your opponents, you will be able to make minute adjustments to your own play, and exploit any weaknesses displayed by other players around the table. In many ways, this is like having a one on one poker coach standing at your shoulder, keeping an eye on the table and keeping you informed of their observations. Invaluable information in any game.

By incorporating these three powerful poker tools of bankroll management, poker analysis and live tracking, into a single software product, the Poker Evolver team have succeeded in producing something invaluable to any serious on-line poker player. If the response from the current user base is anything to go by, this new release is eagerly awaited and will be well received.

A beta release candidate of Poker Evolver is currently in closed testing, and the feedback from the testing team looks extremely promising, the Poker Evolver team are sure that new and current users alike, will be happy with the many refinements made, to an already successful poker tool. Although no release date has been set, the indications are that the application will go gold within a very short period of time, once the testing phase has been completed and the development team is happy that all outstanding issues have been addressed.
